Officials of Arts Commission Suggest Design for North Side of Avenue.

TREATMENT DESCRIBED AS MODIFIED CLASSIC

Favorable Consideration Is Given Arrangements to Restore Wakefield.

Buildings of the projected civic center to be erected on the northside of Pennsylvania avenue, between Third and Sixth streets and Louisiana avenue will be regarded "ideal" as a guide for architectural treatment of future private construction or reconstruction along the betwen the Capitol and Fifteenth street. Fine Arts Commission officials said last alight after their adjournment of their ecember meeting.

Modified classic architecture will be used for this proposed group of build-ings, in which all District municipal activities, except those in the District Building, will be centered. The height will be six stories, and limestone, marble of granite will be used for construction.

Discussion of the matter now is prompted by the prospective passage at this session of Congress of the Shipstead bill, giving the commission jurisdiction over the height and architectural appearance of private construction or reconstruction on land bordering Federal property in the District. The Shipstead measure offers no suggestion as to a definite type of archigestion as to a definite type of architecture, and it is this the Fine Arts Commission must determine with im-mediate respect to the north side of Pennsylvania avenue.

Question Submitted by Grant.

The question was formally submitted The question was formally submitted to the commission yesterday, by Lieut Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive officer of the Public Buildings Commission, in bebrig of that body. He stated the Building Commission regarded the question as of great importance in view of private building which must take place from time to time on the north side of the avenue, and so that private builders may have a definite knowledge builders may have a definite knowledge of the commissions' ideas in this matter.

Heartened by their victory in the controversy regarding the United Cigar Stores Co's projected two-story structure at the northeast coner of Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, commissioners last night repeated their determination to make Pennsylvania avenue, in this section, worthy of the name of the Nation's main thoroughfare.

Wakefield Plans Favored.

GREEN GIVES REASON FOR REVENUE CHANGES

Made With Treasury Maximum in Mind.

Opening its legislative throttle, the House took up the $232,735,000 tax re-close general debate tonight.

This would clear the way for consideration of the measure the first of next week under procedure permitting the offering of amendments from the floor. A number of members are expected to call for changes in various provisions, but there is little likelihood that their efforts, except in perhaps a few cases, will prove successful.

Chairman Green, of the ways and means committee, which whipped the bill into shape before Congress conthat their efforts, except in perhaps a few cases, will prove successful. Chairman Green, of the ways and means committee, which whipped the bill into shape before Congress convened, opened debate on it yesterday, explaining that every effort had been made toward simplifying the administration of the revenue law.

Green did not make a reference to the possible fate of the measure either in the House or later in the Senate as was done by Representative Gar-entirely to explaining the viewpoint of the ways and means committee in rec-ommending the bill as it is. He pointed out that the committee had gone on record against any cut in excess of $250,000,000 and that every effort had been made by its majority to hold the proposed reduction as near as possible to the maximum of $225,000,000 set by the Treasury.

It was felt, the chairman continued. that the corporation tax, which has not been reduced since the war, should re-ceive first consideration, and for this ceive first consideration, and for this reason the rate on corporation incomes should be cut from 13½ to 11½ per cent. He added that the Federal income tax and the present rates on incomes within the intermediate brackers had not been touched, as the committee believed they were equitable and should remain as they are.

Mr. Green also touched briefly upon the committee's recommendation to reduce from 3 to 1½ per cent the tax on automobile sales. In referring to other reductions, which include a 50 per cent cut in the tax on club dues and an increase from 75 cents to 81 in the exemption granted on admission tickets.

Reverse Picture Painted. Mr Garner, at the outset of his re-narks, said that Green had pictured marks, said that Green had pictured ably the various aspects of the revenue bill, but that he had a reverse picture to give. The Texan attacked what he said was a practice by the Senate of unnecessarily ameuding bills that originated in the House, predicting that tax legislation would be complicated and hindered by Senate activities after it had left the House.

Holding that Secretary Mellon was the strongest man in this country, by the strongest man in this country, by virtue of his financial position, and al-

Failure to obtain a permit to have a band in the funeral procession resulted yesterday in the postponement of the burial of John Yovano, 85-year-old gypsy prince and son-in-law of King Mitchell, who died December 1 in Montgomery, Ala.

Police notified King Mitchell late Thursday that it would be impossible for him to have the band. It was decided then to have a short funeral service yesterday and the burial service yesterday and the burial services in about three weeks, the date being contingent upon the arrival of eight sons of the dead prince and other relatives who are now on their way to Washington.

A mere handful of gypsies, headed by King Mitchell, the prince's widow, Princess Rose Yovano; two of his sons, Russell and Frank Yovano, and former King Zuluchio Dimitrio, attended solemn high mass, which was held at 10 o'clock in Holy Rosary Church. In the House, Representative Zihlman, of Maryland, chairman of the House District committee, introduced a new bill to regulate child labor in Washington. It provides that no child under 14 may work in any gainful occupation except agriculture or house work, and then only under the direction of the child's parents or legal guardian. This would supersede the "poverty clause" in the present law which allows employment of children from 12 to 14 years outside of school hours. The new law also would remove the exemption now enjoyed by Capitol pages. Another clause in the bill would prohibit boys under 16 or girls under 18 from working between the hours of 7 c'lock at night and 6 in the morning. hour have been received at the Naval Bureau of Aeromautics. The offers ranged from $1.466,250 to $2.072,302. Contracts will be awarded later.

Specifications for the new aircraft, which Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the bureau, said yesterday were not seaplanes but flying boats, were based on developments from the construction of the PN-11. They will have a wingspread of over 80 feet and a minimum gasoline capacity of 750 gallons. As much as 1,300 gallons of fuel can be carried if the armament is removed. With the exception of one war-time order, this will constitute the largest single purchase of aircraft ever placed by the Navy. Antimonopoly League

He declared that an investigation such as he proposes to urge in the Senate will throw light upon "this strange other wordliness of the present administration."

"BIG," BANKER SAYS McNary Introduces Farm Bill in Senate

(Associated Press.)

The ground work for another farm relief battle was laid yesterday with the reintroduction by Senator McNary (Rereintroduction by Senator McNary (Republican). Oregon, of the McNary-Haugen bill, slightly modified from the form in which it was vetoed last spring by President Coolidge.

Senator McNary, who will be chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, met some of the objections which the President voiced to the old McNary-Haugen measure, but he is sticking by the controversial equalization fee provision as a means of raising funds to market surplus crops, Atlanta's Prison Warden Causes Laugh by Story of Stolen Food.

Cincinnati, Dec. 9 (A.P.).—The last word in direct support of George Remus' plea that he suffered from transitory maniacal insanity when he shot and killed his estranged wife, Imogene here last October 6, was said today The prosecution immediately renewed its efforts to prove him a deliberate murderer and send him to the electric

The final efforts of the defense The final efforts of the defense brought on a desultory session of courtwith two character witnesses testifying for Remus and two depositions read to the jury. When the defense rested it had required twelve days. Of the dozens of depositions taken throughout the country, only skimmed parts of the two were read, and even then the severely reduced portions got before the jury only after long arguments which slowed the trial to a snall's pace.

Dodge May Testify.

The first rebuttal witness was R. E. Simmons, previously an attorney for a Remus whisky corporation. He appeared several days ago as a defense witness, testifying that outbursts he observed in the defendant caused him to regard Remus as insane. His examination today was devoted largely to his legal efforts in behalf of the Ohio and Vantucky Distillery Corporation, of legal efforts in behalf of the Onio and Kentucky Distillery Corporation, of which he said Remus owned 55 per cent, and Imogene Remus 22.67 per cent, and the disposal of flquidating dividends and physical assets of the Prosecutor Charles P. Tait 2d said that the rebuttal probably would require five days, although one less might suffice. On the other hand, it might require seven or eight days. Ruth Remus, daughter of the slain woman, daughter of the slain woman.

Premiers Not to Meet.

That Premier Pilsudski and Premier Waldemaras of Lithuania would face one another in an open meeting of the League of Nations council was regarded as unlikely here today.

Pilsudski, it was thought, would merely hold conversations with the members of the league council individually on the Lithuanian-Polish dispute.

Because of the high tension of the relations between the two countries and the very bitter personal attack Pilsudski is credited with having made upon Waldemaras in an interview through the Polish Telegraph Agency, influencial members of the council have advised against bringing the two premiers together.

Our Spiritual Natures

A S the magnet draws the steel, so the Divine Being draws to Himself the heart of man. In his youth man is quick to respond. In middle life, with his soul weighted down with the care of material responsibility, he responds less readly to this Divine impulse. In later life his responsive powers if unused have become lifeless and God means nothing to him. Such is the life story of the man who refuses to recognize his obligation to God for all the benefits and bounties of life which have been bestowed upon him without his either asking or seeking them. When we fully enter into the mere joy of living and respond to the wonder of friendship and the beauties of all the world about us, we are in reality rousing our spiritual nature in response to the magnetic appeal of God.

When we shape our conduct in harmony with the highest moral standards, we are really accepting the invitation of the Christ. Recognizing this Divine element in what we call our human aspirations, our spiritual power is awakened and we rise to heights which have not before been contemplated.

The Church through its various avenues is helping us to understand these better and higher things. The Church is arousing the latent part of our spiritual nature that we may live in harmony with the Divine laws and know the really worth while things in the world.

Contributions Asked For Union Mission

Invitations to contribute to the Christmas holiday and winter expenses of the Central Union Mission are being mailed to the customary contributors in preparation for the annual Christmas observance for the poor of the Capital. The observance will include Christmas dinners and a toy-decked Christmas tree for the children.

John S. Bennett, superintendent of the mission, says that during the last year the demands on the mission's facilities have increased, due in part to iday and winter expense cilities have increased, due in part to the new building at 613 C street northwest, and consequently appeals must b made at holiday times for aid.

Friday Is Chosen For Christmas Giving

In accordance with the custom of former years, the Sunday School of the Central Presbyterian Church will hold its annual Christmas giving service on Friday. At the service donations of clothing, books, toys, candy and money are made, to be sent to various schools and orphanages.

This year the gift will be distributed at the mountain schools of Grundy, and Banner Elk, N. C., as well as to the Presbyterian Orphans' Home at Lynchburg, Va., the Central Union Mission and the Salvation Army, of this city.

STATES LOSE THEIR RIGHTS.

The Senate yesterday denied the oath of office to Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, apparently because in the opinion of some senators too much money was spent in the Pennsylvania campaign. The State of Pennsylvania, having been deprived of one of its senators for the time being, the remnant of the Senate will await the report of a committee to ascertain whether or not the Senate's verdict of guilty is supported by the

The Senate's vote in the Vare case was substantially the same as its vote in the Smith case. A majority of Democrats voted to exclude the two senators-elect, in spite of the fact that they are Republicans. The Democratic majority's discovery that the Constitution enables them to exclude Republican senatorselect, in advance of proof of unfitness, affords them deep consolation in the performance of what would have been their solemn duty anyhow as partisans. They are buttressed by their constitutional convictions in performing their duty as Democrats. As for the Republican minority which voted to exclude, it stands to reason that they were actuated by conscientious scruples, as they have found it impossible to support anything polluted by Republicanism after securing their own election as Repub-

There is no vacancy in the Senate as a result of the exclusion of Smith and Vare. Both remain senators-elect. The two States concerned are deprived of their equal representation in the Senate-that is all. Just a little suspension of Article V of the Constitution, which provides that "no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate." Presumably the committee will find both senators guilty of whatever they have done, and presumably the Senate will adopt the committee's report and declare the two seats vacant. If the committee should dare to overrule the Senate's verdict and find the two senators-elect not guilty-well, that is not to be thought of. No committee can overrule the Senate, although the Senate has just given an example of the creature overruling its creator. The committee will make a report affirming the Senate's verdict. Then the Senate must approve the report or reverse its verdict.

If Mr. Vare should be found guilty and his seat declared vacant, Pennsylvania will be becomes of Mr. William B. Wilson, whose sole and that the legislative body was sincere in its hope of entering the Senate depends upon the belief that restriction to a lump sum would seating of Mr. Vare? Perhaps the Democratic majority and the Republican minority may find constitutional support as well as conscientious balm in a plan for placing Mr. Wilson in Mr. Vare's seat, thus relieving the people of Pennsylvania from the task of electing

All kinds of delightful possibilities are opened by the discovery that the Senate can suspend the Constitution and make up its membership according to the wishes of senators already on the inside. It is now apparent that the States have only the right to nominate senators. "By and with the consent of the Senate" has been given fresh and glorious meaning. Party majorities may now point to the revised Constitution when they make up the membership of the Senate. States may be rebuked for trying to elect senators opposed to the party in control of the Senate. If they do not elect senators of the right political complexion they may be denied any senators at

No doubt Messrs. Smith and Vare will enter protest in the name of their respective States against the denial of equal suffrage in the Senate. But what do their protests amount to? They are not senators. They are mere nominees who have not been confirmed. Illiois and Pennsylvania must wait until the enate is ready to grant them equality. If hose States send men who are not acceptable the Senate will turn them away again. So times change, and the Constitution nois, then Pennsylvania, and then the others in their turn, according to the conscientious scruples of the majority in the Senate. As politics is a fickle jade, it will change with the nes too; and a majority of Republicans will minated by the Southern States. In that day crats may conclude that the exclusion of

But that is for the hereafter. All is rosy now. On with the dance! Vive la bagatelle!

FLOOD CONTROL.

It remained for former Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, to bring into the open the smoldering criticism of the Army engineers who in the past have had charge of the Mississippi River. Speaking before the National Rivers and Harbors Congress recently in advocating a series of reservoirs to solve the flood problem, Mr. Pinchot assailed the work of the Army engineers. Maj. Gen. William H. Bixby, retired chief of the Engineer Corps, was quick to the defense. "Army engineers," he declared, "are the servants of Congress, have done what Congress instructed them to do in the Mississippi Valley, and have done it exceedingly well."

At a later session of the congress, Mai, Gen. Edgar Jadwin, present chief of Army engineers, called attention to the fact that his organization had drawn up the flood control plan, supported by the advice of all the engineers in the country who were intimately familiar with the Mississippi problem. It would take another group ten years, he said, to attain anything like mastery of the subject, and in the end they would not be able to devise a better plan.

The Engineer Corps needs no defense. Its personnel has realized throughout its administration of the Mississippi River that the job was not being managed as well as might be were every facility made available and every restriction removed. The Army engineers have been required to attempt to administer a gigantic task with pitifully inadequate funds. They have faced incessant criticism and jealousy of civilian engineers who ignored the handicaps under which the Army engineers were forced to labor. They have done as good a job as could have been expected under the circumstances. That the Mississippi was not tightly harnessed is no fault of theirs.

The report submitted to Congress deals with the lower valley alone, from Cairo, Ill., to the Gulf, and contemplates an expenditure of $296,400,000 within a ten-year period. The Government would bear 80 per cent of the cost as compared with the 66 2-3 per cent it bears at the present time. It provides for a spillway above New Orleans, diversion floodways in the Atchafalaya and Tensas Basins in Louisiana, a river bank floodway from Cairo to New Madrid, Mo., the strengthening and raising of existing levees, and stabilization of the river channel. The plan "fundamentally differs from the present project in that it limits the amount of flood water carried in the main river to its safe capacity," the report "and sends the surplus water through says, lateral floodways."

This is the plan made after competent study by engineers with a background of Mississippi River experience. It is the only plan that stands a chance of adoption. If it fails, flood control will not be accomplished. Congress is not competent to make the final decision as to the details of how control is to be attempted. Millions are involved. Millions additional will be wasted if the numerous suggestions of amateur fixers, whose eyes are glued upon the pork barrel, are heeded. All who sincerely seek to control the Mississippi should stand solidly behind the plan proposed by the administration.

LET CONGRESS BE FAIR.

All other local matters to be acted upon by the present Congress are subservient to that of reestablishment of an equitable and just fiscal relationship plan. Existing law provider explicitly that the Federal Government is to assume its proportionate share of the expenses of running the local government, and it is only because the majority yield to the persistent pressure of a few representatives that the inequitable lump sum appropriation has been substituted for the law. A bill will be presented to both houses shortly providing that the proportionate basis of appropriations be resumed. If the matter can be expedited through a new bill, well and good.

When the first lump sum appropriation wa made, in 1924, $9,000,000 approximated 40 per cent of the total budget. It may have been that the mounting cost of administering upon to elect another senator. What | Washington was not anticipated at that time act as a curb upon any tendency to increase local expenditures. This does not alter the fact, however, that the innovation ignored the existing law.

The appropriation asked for 1929, $40,431, 186, the largest in the District's history and the first to reach and pass the $40,000.000 mark, represents an increase of approximately $20,000,000 over that appropriated in 1924. The lump sum, $9,000,000, represents only about 22 per cent of the whole and it will not be many years before the budget reaches the $50,000,000 figure. During the current fiscal year the Government, through the lump sum, contributed only 28.82 per cent of the cost of running the District. With $594,000,000 worth of tax-exempt property, of which $470,000,000 is owned by Federal Government, Washington feels fully justified in demanding of Congress relief from excessive burdens upon private taxpayers. Washington asks that Congress return to the fair and just rule whereby the National Government shall pay its proper share of the cost of the government of this District.

CLARIFICATION OF LAW.

Prior to passage of the Sherman act combinations in restraint of trade aroused intense antagohowever, instances have arisen in which combinations have worked to the advantage of the public, and there is a disposition to credit corporations with good faith in effecting combinations.

In his annual report to Congress, Mr. Davis, Secretary of Labor, suggests modification of the antitrust laws for the purpose of "unchanges with them. The States have lost what | shackling industrial efficiency." The Sherman they fondly regarded as a right. First Illi- laws have worked out well in a large measure provements in the system could be made which would help labor, industry, business and commerce. It is understand it, that competition is endangered by monopolistic combinations.'

In another section of his report Mr. Davis said that in all the years of national develop ment one of the greatest virtues of the people has been their faith in and respect for the law and the courts, through which there has been developed an equitable and just system of jurisdiction which now merits universal public respect. Yet he has seen time and again, he continued, a spirit of recklessness over what working people seem to think is the too frequent use of the injunction in controversies which now and then enter into contractual relationships. Labor believed that enactment of the Clayton amendments to the Sherman act would restrict the use of the injunction to a great extent, but labor now believes that the measure is not being given liberal and effectual interpretation. The belief that the intention of Congress is being defeated, he continued, may lead to the regrettable result of disrespect for the courts. This situation calls for action by Congress toward clarification of the Clayton amendments so that there may be no cause, real or apparent, for the belief that labor controversies are being determined through judicial legislation.

As a general proposition Secretary Davis' suggestion will meet with approval. There must, of course, be no tinkering with the fundamental judicial power. If, however, through clarification of the laws the relationships between employer and employe can be improved, such action should be favored. All laws should be clear and unmistakable in their intent and

PERSHING MILITANT AGAIN.

Gen. John J. Pershing, who met with some uccess as the leader of a "drive" along in 1918, has been chosen to lead another. His objective this time is to add to the war chest of the Washington Cathedral, in course of erection on Mount St. Alban.

Up to the present between 25.000 and 26.000 persons from every State, as well as from 22 Territories and foreign countries, have contributed toward the building of the cathedral, the total thus contributed exceeding $6,000,000. These gifts range in value from more than $500,000 in the form of a legacy from the late John A. Kasson, to 10 cents from an unknown donor.

It will be many years before the great work is completed, but in the end Washington will have a structure devoted to religion, which will rival those glorious cathedrals that are the chief ornament of Europe. Gen. Pershing is the right man for the leadership of such a

SENATOR JAMES A. REED.

The events of the last few days have naturally unloosed a flood of political speculation. Washington is full of rumors and talk of the strategy and tactics of those who are or are believed to be candidates for either the Republican or Democratic presidential nomination. The situation is only a forerunner of what may be expected until the conventions decide which of the many aspirants are to be the respective standard bearers.

It is not strange, therefore, to find that significance is attached to the rumor that Senator Reed, of Missouri, may file his candidacy for the Senate in 1928. Last year the Missouri senator announced that he would not be a candidate again. This was taken to mean that he would be a candidate for the presidential nomination. Events have justified that conclusion, and there is every reason to believe that he is still willing and anxious to be the leader of his party in the coming campaign.

If the Democratic convention should not take the same view, what of Senator Reed's future? Other men have sought the presidential nomination with one hand and retained their grasp upon some other office at the same time. Even if Senator Reed has no such notion, there are many Missouri Democrats who wish him to remain in the Senate for the good of the State and the party. Senator Reed may yield to such appeals if he finds the way barred that might lead him to the White House. In the meantime those who count him out of the Democratic fight for the nomination may find that the corpse is not as dead as at first reported.

BETTER PARCEL POST SERVICE.

Business men of Boston, after investigating the handling of parcel post packages in that city, have filed a vigorous report with the Postoffice Department in which the shortcomings of the service are arraigned. Boston i not the only city which has cause for complaint against the manner in which parcels committed to the mails are handled. There is scarcely a community in the country from which com plaints of carelessness and dilatory handling have not been received. Washington is no exception to the rule. Several instances have been cited in which parcels mailed to points within a night's ride of the Capital have not been delivered for a week.

Even perishable packages, unless stamped for "special handling," for which an extra fee of 25 cents is exacted, are held beyond all reason at some transfer point, or in the receiving rooms of the postoffices.

The Boston business men are the first to make a careful survey of the situation and to file formal complaint with the department, which complaint is accompanied with rather startling specifications. Nor was the time for the investigation chosen during the "rush season" of the postal service, but in April, during the prevalence of normal conditions. The re port details the time occupied in transmitting and delivering 136 ordinary parcels between New York and the Hub. The rail time between the two cities is about the same as between New York and Washington, which averages less than six hours. Of the 136 pieces of mail recorded just 5 were delivered within 24 hours after having been mailed in New York. Twenty-one were delivered within 48 hours. 5 required 6% days, 7 others were not delivered until 7% days after mailing, and 11 others required 4 days each. The Boston committee further reports that the most slovenly methods of handling prevail and that the trouble is in the mechanical equip ment furnished by the department, rather than through the faults of the employes of the

There is certainly room for improvement by other means than "the revision of the parcel post rates," and now that Postmaster Genera New has heard from Boston he may be de pended upon to set in motion the machinery which will lead to betterment of the service, not only between New York and Boston but two Republicans in 1927 was entirely too only when trade is flagrantly restrained, as I throughout the entire country.

MEMOIRS OF A POOR RELATION

By Marietta M. Andrews.

"Mrs. Andrews' autobiography affords a genuine and thoroughly fascinating picture of life in the South in the years just following the Civil War. To the Southerner it will be almost as good as having a printed compilation of the word-of-mouth stories and traditions of one's own family. Through all sorts of disasters and disappointments she retained that keen sense of humor which makes her autobiography such delightful reading."-New York Evening Post.

BAKLANOFF MAKES SPECTACULAR ROLE OF SATAN IN 'FAUST

Basso Quickly Takes Center of Stage With Dramatic Impersonation.

SINGING BY CAPITAINE HELD BEST OF WEEK

Dorothy Speare and Ivantzoff Add Distinction to the Famous Opera.

In his "Calf of Gold" song the audience realized that here was a master of grand opera with a voice more than adequate for the role.

Maurice Capitaine, our singing visitor from overseas, was thoroughly at home in the character of Faust. He looked the part and he sang with consummate ease. A sweetness of tone and depth of richness in his great arias and solos made his performance last picht. solos made his performance last night vocally the greatest of the week. In his "Night of Love" duet with Marguerite, as in the tenor solo, "Salve Demura," unforgettably sung by Caruso, passion, tenderness and impeccable diction brought round after round of applause to him.

Miss Dorothy Speare achieved her third success of the week in the role of Marguerite. She looked the part and was an appealing, dainty maid. Her "King of Thule" song was sung with true interpretation of its crowding beauties and put the audience in a proper mood to appreciate the beauty of her voice and her acting. After this week there is no doubt but that Miss Speare has a real career in grand opera. She is able to infuse her distinctive personality into her roles without marring the picture of the characters she is portraying. And that is certainly one portraying. And that is certainly one of the first essentials of operatic suc-

Ivantzoff Puts Force Into Acting. Once more we heard Ivan Ivantzoff in Once more we heard Ivan Ivantzoff in his favorite character of Valentine, which he sang here with Challapin several seasons ago. Director of Antisaloon League Publicity Suggests Cost Would Be Too Great.

Would be 100 Great.

Denial of any intention on the part of the Antisaloon League to publish a daily newspaper in Washington was issued yesterday by Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, director of the league's newly created department of publicity, education and research. He said he is thoroughly conversant with the cost of publishing a newspaper, and that such a project is entirely out of reach of the league, at this time.

Dr. Cherrington also declared it would not be practical to move the league's presented in Westerville, Ohlo, to Washington, the new national headquarters of the Antisaloon League. General Superintendent F. Scott McBride, Dr. Cherrington, and several other league officials, plan to confer within the next two weeks relative to establishing additional offices here, and tentative arrangements call for Dr. McBride taking over the league's present offices in the Bliss Building.

The biennial convention of the league formally adjourned yesterday at noon, and last night most of the delegates and officers had left Washington for ther hatton-wide conference of temperance forces.

Presiding at the tea and coffee urns were Mrs. Eli Helmick, Mrs. John M. Beavers, Mrs. David D. Caldwell, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Young, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. St. Clair and Mrs. Grimes. Music was furnished by an orchestra of stringed instruments.

The galaxy of opera stars featured in the anniversary festival of the Washington National Opera Company at Poll's Theater was augmented last night in a spectacular manner by Georges Baklanoff, who sang the role of Mephistopheles in "Faust." Like Chaliapin, whose interpretation is very similar, M. Baklanoff quickly occupied the center of the stage with his portrayal of the archenemy of man who led poor Faust to his doom.

Baklanoff's woice is a tremendous basso, with organilke tones sounding out in the rise and fall of Sataic emotions. This veteran of grand opera, who once played with the great Plancon, and is known for his work with the Boston Opera Company, gave a dramatic Impersonation of the role. His histrionic ability was equal to any seen on the Poll's stage this week.

The Mephistopheles of M. Baklanoff was clothed in dark green, a rather welcome rellef from the obvious red garments so often worn by His Satanic Majesty in "Faust." His makeup was very realistic and his acting contained so much realism that he really was sight to terrorize the heart.

Artists From Every Capital Theater Donate Services to Aid Fund.

MRS. COOLIDGE PRESENT

Gathered together under the guiding the Actors Fund of America, the season's greatest array of theatrical talent appeared on the stage of the National vesterday afternoon and well into the The occasion was the annua benefit performance given here for the Actors Benefit Fund—an insurance of quarter of a million dollars distributed annually among the needy of the pro fession.

Not a theater in Washington was without representation at the benefit performance — from the management down to the stage hands—and all services were donated free, including the theater, loaned by W. H. Rapley.

causing him to lose consciousness in the rarified atmosphere.

Awakening in a semicoma, he found his plane was afire and falling. He groped for the lost tube and found it in the cockpit. Righting his plane he went into a series of sideslips and dives to blow qut the flames, but the strain of these maneuvers, it is believed, further tore up the engine.

Half-conscious he again set his plane right and glided into a small corn field near the Eastern Branch. He had fought four fires on the way down.

When the ambulance arrived he was cooly inspecting the battered plane.

ELEVATION OF GUNS IS VOTED BY HOUSE

Charles Evans Hughes, while Secretary of State, had said that it would not violate the Washington treaty to increase the range of American guns and said that within the last 48 hours the "present Secretary of State" has concurred in that view. Butler later said that he had been advised through the Navy Department that Secretary Kellogg, after study of the elevation question, had expressed the opinion "that the elevation of the guns as proposed was in no violation of the Washington treaty."

French Opposes Flavation

French Opposes Elevation.

Representative French (Republican). Idaho, chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee, which passes upon Naval appropriations, opposed elevation of the guns. He argued that the nive best American battleships had a firing range greater than any British or Japanese ships, and said neither England nor Japan had increased the elevation of naval guns since the signing of the treaty.

elevation of naval guns since the signing of the treaty.

French was supported by Representative McClintic, who argued against providing funds for elevating guns on the ground that the money could be expended to better advantage for some other naval activity.

Refusing to heed either French or McClintic the House voted in favor of an amendment sponsored by Representative Vinson of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Naval Committee, to provide for elevation of the guns, and at Mr. Butler's suggestion, incorporated $940,000 in the bill to provite specifically for increasing the range of guns on the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada, which are now undergoing extensive overhauling.

Elevation for Only Two Ships.

While the funds included in the bill esterday will provide for elevation of ins on only two ships, the vote on the usestion was regarded as determining policy with respect to other capital along and it is expected that an appropriation for this purpose will be rowided later.

ACTORS' BENEFIT DRAWS Mellon Seeks Chef Honors With Recipe for Curry TRIBUTE TO MISS TALLEY

Having conquered the financial chicken. Cut it into eight pieces, then world. Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Melion is reaching out for more worlds to conquer, and his eyes are resting with delight on the empire of the gourmet.

With this in mind he has prepared a recipe for curried chicken, designed to tickle the palate of the most fastidious. It will appear in the cook book being published by the Congressional Club, and will be the piece de resistance of the luncheon to be given Monday by the club in the Grace Dodge Hotel. A mere reading of the financier's recipe will resolve any doubt that may exist as to his claims for the white cap of the chef. The recipe follows:

Singe, draw and wash a 4-pound checken. Cut it into eight pieces, then place the pieces, flesh side down, in a sauce pan. Four over 2 ounces of hot Lutter. Fry nicely on both sides, then sprinkle with 2 ounces of chopped ions. Continue to fry without browning the onions. Sprinkle with 2 ounces of flour, then fry 2 minutes longer; add 1½ pinits of stock or water. Boll and add one apple, pared to the luncheon to be given Monday by the club in the Grace Dodge Hotel.

"His name will be presented to the Democratic convention. He is, without having made an announcement, as much of a candidate as any man menloned in either the Republican or Democratic parties.

"There is no foundation for the report of his withdrawal. He will not be permitted to withdraw."

It has always been the Reed strategy, it is pointed out, to be prepared to take over the Smith strength in the event that the New York governor can not be nominated. He has never intended be nominated. He has never interactional actively to oppose him. The two causes are such that they can best run along together, it is explained, while divided both would be hurt. In fact, should Reed incur the enmity of the Smith forces his chances would be well-night nil. But by remaining friendly to the in case there is any.

Candidacy in State Vital.

Candidacy in State Vital.

This being the plan of Reed's friends, it would be foolish for him to come out at this time to deny that he had any aspirations and throw his strength to Smith, it is pointed out. About a year ago Senator Reed did announce that he would not be a candidate for the Senate again. But conditions in his State would be fraught with all sorts of uncertainties should he throw the senatorial field open, it is said. The word that he had definitely decided to enter the senatorial race was passed word that he had definitely decided to enter the senatorial race was passed out, though not in formal form, to the Kansas City delegation here seeking the Republican national convention, a few days ago.

On the Republican side yesterday some very subtle moves were being made designed to throw the army of Federal patronage holders behind Secretary of Commerce Hoover. R. B. Creager, Texas Republican national committee man, for one thing, made forman announcement that the Texas delegation would be for Hoover. There was considerable discussion of a letter sent out to members of the Republican State com-

"In view of the declinations of Presi-dent Coolidge and Mr. Hughes, I be-lieve the sentiment among Republicans in Maryland, as well as in many other States, today strongly favors Mr. Hoov-er," Tait's letter said.

SENATE DENIES OATH TO VARE, 56 TO 30

Republicans voted to exclude him temporarily.

Smith and Vare now occupy rather unusual positions. Each is removed from the Senate pay roll upon which he was placed on March 4 at the beginning of the term for which they were elected and their entire office forces employed in the Senate Office Building likewise are separated from the pay roll Vare Issues Statement.

Immediately after the final roll call yesterday denying him the oath, Vare retired from the Senate chamber, a disappointed man, but apparently not at all a surprised one. He went to his office in the Senate Office Building and later issued this statement:

"The great State of Pennsylvania, comprising approximately one-tenth of the population of the United States, stands tonight for the first time in history without the representation in the National Government to which she is legally and morally entitled. A majority of the Senate has attempted to rewrite the Constitution. The covenant between the States has been broken.

"I can not refrain from calling attention at this time to the fact that the Senate took its unprecedented action in the absence of the slightest proof of any irregularity on my part. Unsupported charges on the floor, outcries of defeated opponents, rumors of the vaguest and most general nature, formed the excuse for the political coup that has depsived Pennsylvania of a State's most cherished and rightful privilege.

"I was duly, legally and properly ous protest which so far as I am con-cerned will be waged to a definite con-lusion. I can not believe that such a prievous wrong against 10,000,000 Amer-cans can obtain for long."

Under these circumstances I feel it my duty to ask Maryland Republicans to thoughtfully consider if among the distinguished candidates Secretary Hoover should not be their leading choice."

The fact that Tait is in the Treasury organization and close to David H Biair, internal revenue commissioner, gave rise to speculation as to whether Secretary Mellon plans to support Hoover. Tait, it was pointed out, would hardly go out on a limb, so to speak, if he did not have reason to believe that his espousal of the Hoover cause was satisfactory to the Treasury head.

There is a possibility, of course, of William P. Jackson, Maryland national committeeman, making a fight for an uninstructed delegation. This proposition could be voted in the State's primary.

and appeal were exhibited. In her arias, "Ah. Must Ve Fade," from "La Sonnambula" (Bellini), and the showy, florid Polonaise, from "Mignon" (Thomas), all the witchery and wiles of the coloratura were present. Her thrills, cadenzas and flutelike runs and arpeggios bespoke the great artist she is. Mme. Melius, a veteran of opera, who sang the Polonaise Monday night, might even have envied her for the ease with which she mastered the classic.

Several of Miss Talley's songs brought out unsuspected beauties of her lower and middle registers, where a rich warmth and breadth of tone coloring endeared her anew.

Miss Talley is diction was extremely good in French, German and Italian. Her enunciation of English was so clear it was an added delight.

Miss Talley was generous with encores. Striking in its appeal was "Beautiful Blue Danube," with variations.

The assisting artist was John Corigliano, a capable volinist, somewhat hampered by the cold affecting his instrument and making it difficult to keep in tune. He has a master's bow and a gift for G-string effects, and therefore won his share of the afternoon's plaudits Betting on Nomination Special to The Washington Post.

One bet of $2,500 to $4,000 has been posted that Hoover will win the nomination.

As to the Democratic race, most New Yorkers inclined to wager lean to the choice of Gov. Al Smith for the nomination and many of them for the election as well. DOCTOR NOT CENSURED Friend's Past Suffering Led Him to Decline to Act Against Poison.

JURY VOICES NO VIEWS

Shefield, England, Dec. 9 (AP.).—A coroner's jury investigating the death of John Robinson from an overdose of poison last month today declined to censure Dr. A. T. Simpson for making no effort to save his patient's life.

The doctor had been treating Robinson for dropsy and heart disease, and when he found the patient had taken an overdose of a dangerous medicine he refused, in view of the patient's past suffering, to make any effort to remove the poison.

After hearing the coroner in summation declare that neither he nor the jury should either commend or censure the doctor, the jury brought in a verdict that Robinson died from medicine taken to relieve pain and cause him to alcep

After the verdict. Dr. Simpson said.
"Some one has expressed the opinion that no one is good enough to say that another should die. With that I find no fault, but I would ask this question in response: Is any man good enough to decide that another must live, willy nilly, to suffer pain and distress beyond hope and help?
"I have known Robinson 20 years. He has done me many kindnesses, and it would have been a callous action on my part to have done him an ankindness in his last moments."

His Girl Bride Gone, Spouse, 60, Is Sued

Special to The Washington Post.
Baltimore, Dec. 9.—Aaron Benesch, 60 years old, retired furniture merchant, whose Follies girl bride, the former Helen Hendgrson, recently packed up her diamonds and went away from here because she said the town "smelled like crullers," today faces a new woe.
Suit was filed in Superior Court for $450 by the owners of the New York apartment house in which Mrs. Benesch lives. The suit alleges Benesch stopped payment on a check for $225 drawn December 1.

Benesch and his bride were married here September 27. Mrs. Benesch checked out on Armistice Day, going to New York, her wedding gift from the bridegroom was a necklace of 88 diamonds.

Girl Is Found Killed; Posse Seeks Slayer

a negro woman's house nearby Ior a jar of sirup. Returning with the sirup, it was believed, she was overtaken and slain. The father found the body while looking for the girl.
Meanwhile, Wayne County officers, are holding two negroes as suspects,
but are continuing search for others.

Hit-and-Run Joyriders Kill Boy; Friend Hurt

Charlotte, N. C., Dec. 9 (A.P.).—Lucas Crawford, 17, of Roanoke, Va., was killed, and another youth, named Douglas, badly injured, when the two were hit by an automobile on the Statesville road 5 miles north of here tohight.

Douglas, from whom the name of his companion was obtained, said the automobile, a roadster filled with boy and girls, was without lights and did not stop after the accident. He declared he and Crawford were on the edge of the road when the car struck them.

Is about $30. Poor construction adds just about 25 per cent to the cost of heating.

Much of the loss of heat is due to poor construction of the side walls. If the side walls were made air tight on both faces by the proper use of paper, much heat would be saved. On the thoner face the paper should be put on and then the laths and plaster, or other finish added on the outside wall; the layer of paper should be covered by properly laid, good weatherboarding or other good, relatively airproof, waterproof, outer covering. The spaces between the studding should never open either into the basement or into the attic. The basement should have a layer of paper underneath good airtight flooring.

It was from Mr. Frazier, in the drawing room of his home. He was sitting, slid far down in his chair, his legs sprawled before him, his hands loosely hooked together while he talked.

Molly had come to see him, after dinner—a dinner that she had taken at a lunch-counter down town.

"I know I oughtn't to disturb you," she said, when she took her seat, "but I need help—I'm all lost."

"Yes?" He drew his shaggy brows together.

"You don't like me," she went on, sadiy. "But you do like Bob and may be you'll help me for his sake."

"What makes you think I don't like you?" he asked. His elbows were on the arms of his chair and his hands rested upon his lip, concealing the lower half of his face.

"Why, you told me to stay away from your office and said I was a bad wife."

"Piffle," said he. "That's one of the notions that make women hard to get along with. When anybody doesn't agree perfectly with everything you think, and approve of everything you think, and approve of everything you think, and approve of everything, you consider that they're 'mad' at you, and have it in' for you—and you hate'em!"

He swung his foot as he contemplated her over his intertwined fingers. "Women haven't been out in the world long enough to learn how to get along with people. It's a fact! Women and men are separate races—a woman 'sn't simply a man arranged in a different form. The two breeds are as distinct as negroes are from Chinamen. A woman's mind doesn't act like a man's; her understanding isn't the same as a man's; her experience with life is mighty short. It has only been a little while since women were only beasts of burden, and they're having as hard a time growing into full-fledged civilized beings as the natives down in the beings as the natives down in the South Seas. "Don't you hage me?" Molly asked.
"Certainly not. You're a fairly good specimen of the breed—I've seen lots worse. But your mind is on yourself all the time—you never stop to wonder what's in the other person's thoughts, and whether he isn't more nearly right than you are, maybe. That's what's wrong with your married life."

"So in that matter, he was kinder and better than you! Isn't that right?"

It was hard to acknowledge that he was right. Molly said nothing, but continued to turn the ring around and around, watching the sparkle of light in the diamond.

"Did he ever want anything that you kept him from getting" prodded Mr. Frazier.

She swallowed a lump that was rising in her throat. "Some clothes," she said. "And a radio before we were married. But that was so we could save money!"

"I suppose you didn't care for a radio, personally, he suggested.
She shook her head. "I didn't see why we should have one."

"Did you buy any clothes, after you told him not to buy any?"

"Yes." Molly turned her face away from him and appeared to be studying the tall Italian mantelplece. "I bought a little dress."

"What were you going to do with the money you earned by working after-moons?"

Who Is Right?

JEANNE recently wrote this column in criticism of the narrow-mindedness that censured gris for drinking. Jeanne felt that the writer of the column should retire to some farm for the aged and Jeanne hacked up her views by stating that for years she herself has refused to drink and was left out of most of the parties given by her friends. At last she went to a party, drank, and met a man who eventually proposed marriage! So presto! Jeanne is for gin as a matchmaker and Jeanne condemns the columnist who declares gin never made a girl finer, truer, or even more attractive—while it surely has coarsened, and blunted and ruined thousands.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ROWNIE' is 30 years old, 5 feet 8½ inches tall, and weighs 145 pounds. She wants to know whether she is too tall. She is most certainly not too tall. There are a great many women of that height, but not all of them know the secret of making the most of themselves. Height is no misfortune. On the contrary it is cometiting to be entited it. its owner carries herself gracefully with her head high and her figure straight. Be proud of your height and be the Be proud of your height and be the lovellest tall person you can make yourself. Keep your body slim and dress it well. Do not avoid short dresses and high heels, for they are in better proportion on a tall person than on a short one.

No, exercise will not ordinarily make you taller unless you were intended by nature to be so and in that case lack of exercise will not stop your growth; it will only injure your health.

STERLING SOARS FURTHER

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Dec. 9.-Stocks turned upwardly abruptly today after strenuous early efforts by bears to drive prices below the previous closing levels had met with strong resistance. The increase in brokers' loans had encouraged bearish operators to continue the drive which caused widespread recessions Wednesday and Thursday. When their offer-ings were absorbed with comparative ease, the technical strength of the market was revealed to those who patiently have been waiting for the end of the reaction and a strong rally set in, which gained in momentum as the session

Brogressed.

Stocks in all groups became buoyant, with such old leaders as General Motors, United States Steel, General Electric, Atchison, New York Central, Allied Chemical and others swinging into the movement. Net gains were scored all along the line extending to 8 points or more. Although trading was slightly less active than in the two sessions immediately preceding, the turnover was approximately 2,425,000 shares.

On the reassuring side of the market were the facts that no change was made in the discount rate; that bankers were not predicting dire things for the stock market, the reserve banks added further orn prevailed. On the other hand, somewhat better export call developed for wheat.

Closing quotations on corn were unsettled, % to % cent net lower. Wheat annished at % to ½ cent advance, oats showing % to % cent gein, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 15 cents.

Right from the outset, selling pressure both from holders and from speculators was evident in the corn market. So much was this the case that throughout a large part of the day, all the creal pits and provisions as well the creal pits and provisions as well we dominated by the action of corn. Weakness in the corn market was largely associated with the fact that primary receipts of corn were broadening out. Weakness in the corn market was largely associated with the fact that primary receipts of corn were broadening out. And that today's aggregate was 1,092,000 bushels, against $12,000 bushels a week ago, and 647,000 bushels on the corresponding date last year.

Kanses City in particular loomed up with liberal receipts of corn, and special notice was taken of the fact that yesterday's official figures on Kansas City arrivals were 245 cars, compared with only 21 cars a year ago. Considerable attention was also given to assertions that despite smaller indicated available total supplies of corn this season than last year current values of corn are much more than correspondingly higher and that anything bullish in this corn situation has been well al-

Chicago, Dec. 9 (A.P.).—Accelerated movement of corn to leading market centers, especially in the Southwest, did a good deal today to put the corn market on the down grade. Besides, favorable weather for curing and husking of corn prevailed. On the other hand, somewhat better export call developed for wheat.

TAKING PROFITS GOES ON

Treasury Issues and Libertys 168 I Recede Sharply-Most Rails React.

FOREIGN LIST IS "MIXED"

New York, Dec. 9 (A.P.)—Irregularity and moderately light trading characterized the bond market today. Considerable profit-taking developed, probaby inspired by recent discussion of a possibility of stiffening money rates. Sightly higher rate on the Treasury's December 15 financing and the outward flow of gold have been cited as factors in a possible rise in interest charges within the near future. Treasury issues and Liberty bonds, after an early period of firmness, fell back rather sharply toward the close of the market. Liberty 3½s and Treasury 4½s, and 3¾s were offered in unusually heavy volume in the late dealings.

Railroad liens, which have been hovury 4½s, 4s and 3¾s were offered in unusually heavy volume in the late dealings.

Railroad liens, which have been hovering close to record high figures, dipped fractionally, notably. Florida East Coast 5s, Rock Island 4½s and Wabash 5s. The Erle liens, however, held firm, and there was another spurt of buying among the 8t. Paul issues. A few ordinarily inactive bonds, such as Central of Georgia 5s and Missistiques. Minneapolis & 8t. Louis 5s ortopped 2 points to a new 1927 low. Islquid Carbonic 6s featured the industrial group, selling up 2 points, but Continental Bag & Paper 6½s lost a fraction of their recent sharp rise, and Pathe 7s again touched a year's minimum. Aside from some profit taking in Illinois, Bell Telephone 5s, the puolic utility department was dull.

Polish 7s sank nearly a point, durhicating their 1927 low. Otherwise, foreign bond prices were mixed in tone, French and Beigian obligations making the best showing.

Extra compensation in the form of a Christmas bonus will be received by employes of Chelsea Exchange Bank. Instead of the usual month's salary at Christmas, those who have been with the bank three years or more will get 10 per cent for the year's salary, 8 per cent for two years' service: 6 per cent for one year and 5 per cent for all others.

Directors of Loew's, Inc., are expected to declare an extra dividend of $1 a share, In addition to the usual quarterly of 50 cents, when directors meet next week. A year ago similar action was taken. Earnings have been satisfactory.

Aggregate November sales of 22 chain store companies are figured at 892,618,310, by Merrill, Lynch & Co., against 881,174,766 for the same group in November 1926, an increase of 14 per cent and for seven months this year, 8848,035,385, against $732,003,020 in the some period of 1926, a gain of 15.8 per cent.

With a scarcity of unofficial estimates of the probable showing of the unfilled tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation for November, to be made public at noon tomorrow, trade circles are expecting a moderate increase based on the low rate of operations and the fair volume of specifications for delivery early next year. An increase of 192,927 tons was reported at the close of October, which exceeded preliminary estimates.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Dec. 9 (A.P.).—An undercurrent of strength ran through the curb market today as operators for the advance gathered confidence from a resumption of the upward movement of stocks on the "big board." Lowpriced issues were in chief favor, and there were numerous brisk advances ranking up to 5 points or more.

There was considerable buying of the
"when issued" stocks of the St. Paul
Raliroad, based on expectations of approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the road's reorganization plan. Celanese and celluloid issues, which have been in the threes of a long decline, showed rallying tendencies and Bancitaly recovered on dividend expectations.

a long decime, showed ranying tendencies and Bancitaly recovered on dividend expectations.

Public utilities were firm, but not especially active. United Gas Improvement sold up nearly 3 points and American Gas & Electric had a gain almost as large. Illinois Pipe Line led the oils with a jump of 4 points, which contrasted with a point c'eline in Gulf Oil American Rolliag Mills and Midland Steel common rose briskly, and American Meter sold at a new peak, up nearly 6 points. New tops also were reached by Blumenthal, Borg & Beck, Evans Auto Loading "B" and Richman Radiator.

Johns-Manville rose about a point but reacted later and Aluminum Co. of America sustained a point loss after a 3-point rise, Rolls Royce of America preferred again retreated to a new low, and other soft spots included Consolidated Dairy Products, Firestone Tire, McCall Corporation and Palmolive.

That a British heavyweight should be standing up at the end of the fight is strange in itself, but that the man he is fighting is reclining on the canvas is stranger; but that is exactly what happened to Monte Munn, Nebraskan legislator, who fought Scott a couple of weeks ago. Munn was down for the count of 10 in the tenth round and Scott was upright in an unnatural pose. For a British heavyweight.

There is no support for a third track and what action the Leg-slature might take to stop the new track will undoubtedly act disastrously for the other two tracks. for the other two tracks,

Why the move is being contemplated is not known. One surmise which has been advanced was that the Jefferson Park owners and horsemen were becoming wealthy at the expense of players, due to the lack of form shown by the horses at the track.

Court decisions, however, have made a resumption of betting possible. The modified mutuels were declared legal two years ago, after certain bookmakers had been placed under arrest at the supposed instigation of political enemies.

It might be said, therefore, that present racing conditions in Louisiana are in danger of being dragged into the courts if the new track materializes.

Lloyd attended East Central College of Oklahoma two years, starring in baseball and track, Before entering in baseball and track, Before entering organized ball he played with the Ada (Okla), independent team and batted 483 in 1924.

San Francisco Club released Lloyd outright in spring of 1926 to avoid paying him $2,500 bonus he had been promised in the event he made good. San Francisco Club had sold Paul Waner and Haroid Rhyne to Pittsburgh for $75,000, and Paul who had recommended Lloyd to San Francisco, requested Pittsburgh to place his younger brother. So Columbia, a Pirate farm, signed Lloyd and at close of the season, sold h'n for a nominal sum to Pittsburgh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Paolino Uzcudun was given permanent reinstatement today by the New York State Athletic Commission. The moonfaced woodchopper was suspended some State Athletic Commission. The moon-faced woodchopper was suspended some six weeks back for running out of a fight with Phil Scott, but was given permission to box Johnny Risko at the Garden with the understanding that if he went through with the Risko fight his reinstatement would be made per-

Colliseum, Chicago, Dec. 9 (A.P.).—
Jack Delaney, prespective opponent for Gene Tunney, scored a technical knockout over Paul Berlenbach, in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round fight tonight. Berlenbach, knocked down four times, by wicked right smashes to the jaw, was weaving on his heels and staggering backward apparently an easy victim for a finishing punch, when Referee Jimmy Garder, one-time world's welterweight champion, humanely stepped in and stopped the uneven fight.

Delaney started with a vigorous attack, landing regularly with rights to the head, ending up the first round with a right cross that brought the crimson to Berlenbach's lips.

Delaney varied his onslaught with left jabs in the second, sending Berlenbach back on his heels with a right swing. Delaney was avolding Berlenbach's returns, except for kidney punches in the clinches. In the third Paul took several on the chin to get in close, enough to land some jolting lefts to the ribs.

Delaney floored Berienbach in the third with a right to the jaw, but Paul got up before the count of nine and was floored again with another right to the chin, the bell ending the court as Berly struggled to his feet.

Paul came back in the fourth booking in and clinching. Delaney's punched were less accurate, and Brienbach twice got in close to send his short lefts to the body. Delaney scored three rights to the jaw as the fourth emted. Berlenbach assumed the offensive starting the fifth, but Delaney ducked wild swings without difficulty. The crowd started booling, apparently because Delaney was in no mood to punish his opponent further.

Delaney floored Berlenbach again at the start of the sixth, with another right to the jaw, but Berly was up before the count began. Another fiard right to the jaw sent Berly reeling to the canvas, and Referee Jimmy Gardner stopped the bout, awarding Delaney a technical knockout decision.

TRACKMEN'S SELECTIONS

Following Through

The minor leagues feel that they have a call upon the udicial services of Judge Landis as well as the majors, and only last season the minors tendered Landis a vote of confidence, offering to share their part of the $75,000 salary burden that the majors pay Landis.

Should Landis be drafted to arbitrate the present major-minor dispute, the would be extremely delicate, with the majors claiming the favor of his legislation in view of the huge saling equal rights in that Landis is the their last court of appeal.

Winter Racing Opens Today at Havana

Havana, Dec. 9 (A.P.).—The winter racing season gets under way here to-morrow with the opening of the fourteenth annual meeting of the Havans merican Jockey Club at Oriental Park. Better programs and horses, combined with improved business conditions here, are expected to assure one sland's history.

Among the owners reported on the way to Cuba to James F. Milton, assistant manager, are A. E. Eastman. R. G. Guciardo and Roscoe Goose. Accompanying the Guciardo stable is C. Graccia, an apprentice until April 3, 1928, who already has ridden 104 winners.

OLLYER'S COMMEN SPORT of KINGS

RAND DAD.

Now break out crying. Here comes the devil and nothing else but. Goes in final spasm at Jeff Park and should be as good as 20 to 1 regardless of the "take." You can't expect a price like this against one of those form choices, but "whisky" has been hiding. The connections have selected a tough spot, but fancy that they know what they are doing.

Seventeen high-class platers are carded for the opener. This is such a wild scramble that much will depend upon racing luck. ARROGANT drew the rail position, however, and if he gets away well the others will have a hard time catching him.

For the second heat, I am pulling a regular "pickler" out of the vat. It is none other than TALLADEGA. "Slim" tried to hide him the other day, but the chief of staff sends the happy gab that the old campaigner is ready to walk his beat. Nuff seed. It is DOC all the way for the third.

The others will merely be fighting it out for second and third money.

In the feature race, ADIOS should beat MTINKLE at the weights. This race seems strictly a two-horose affair. Seems, 100 (Shoiler), 100 (Shoiler), in the sixth. He is entitled to first consideration.

Racing starts at Havana and the opening card is featured by the Inaugural Handicap at 5½ furlongs. IT and ESTIN seem to be the jammy good thing of the day The price will be nothing to brag about, but will be sufficient for backers of apparently "sure things."

You ride 'em, cowboy.

The lads who handle the split-second watches at Tia Juana send FOREMAN in the second race as the sweet patootic of the day. The LESLIE-WALTER ENTRY in the fifth also looks like a stand-out.

ST. JOHN'S FIVE DEFEATS BUSINESS HIGH, 15 TO 13

Cronin's Goal Decides in Overtime

Cadets Trail at Half by 7-3 Score; Spurt in 3d Period.

Davis' Two Goals Tie Count as Game Nears End.

ST. JOHN'S and Business High School battled in midseason form yesterday in an overtime game, a single basket by Earl Cronin deciding the issue in favor of the Cadets, 15 to 13. The game was witnessed by 400 students.

Trailing at the half, 7 to 3, St. John's came back to exhibit a beautiful passing game, advancing the ball down under the cage for several short shots, which gave the Cadets a three-point lead at the end of the third quarter. This advantage they maintained throughout most of the last half.

Hickey, center, and Capt. Sherman, left guard, played a great game for St. John's. The lanky center invariably got the tap off and roamed all over the court on both the offense and defense. Sherman led his teammates in the scoring attack with 7 points.

Two baskets by Frank Davis, Business

Two baskets by Frank Davis, Business High School center, with less that two minutes left to play, tied the score, 13-13. One of the field goals dropped by Davis was a medium long shot, and he flipped the basket, which knotted the count, from under the net.

Both teams had numerous chances to score in the overtime period, but the flerceness of the play hurried the shooters, and both lost golden opportunities at close range. R. and B. Jones, Keefer, Davis, May and Lewis individually played a wonderful game, but the passing of the team in general was poor when men were open in advantageous positions. It was the first regular game of the season for the "Stenogs."

Indoor Golf Course Planned by Arcadia

Promoter John S. Blick has blossomed out with another local sports innovation—an indoor golf course, which is now being installed in the rear of the Arcadia Auditorium.

Indoor golf nets are nothing new in Washington, but Blick's scheme is: The net is used for drives, a new piping patent taking balls from good tee shots to or near the green when the player makes short approaches and putts to the holes. Poorly driven balls find their way to other pipes which carry to the rough. This new indoor course will be open to the public within the next week or so and it is said to furnish golfers with all the thrills, good and bad, received on a regular outdoor layout.

At Home Tomorrow Determined to keep their season's record clear from defeat, the Apaches have been drilling hard this week in anticipation of the invasion of the Virginia A. C. Eleven tomorrow at Union Park. With their first District unlimited championship safely out of reach of District teams, the Apaches are looking forward to their contest next week with the Maryland sandlot champions. The Lansdowne and Homewood teams will be playing for that honor in Baltimore tomorrow.

Emerson Defeated by Brilliant Rally in 2d Half, 27-22.

LED by Benjamin Burch and Will-iam Woodward, both of whom played a brilliant all-around floor game, Central High School won its sec-ond consecutive game yesterday at Cen-tral gymnasium, defeating Emerson, 27-22.

The winner of the game, which was 27-22.

The winner of the game, which was witnessed by 500 students, was in doubt until the final whistle. With five minutes left to play Central was trailing 21-19, but a brilliant spurt netted them four field goals and victory by a 6-point margin.

Burch tied the score up, 21-21, when he dropped a long shot from almost the center of the court and Capt. Burgess followed with another long field goal which put Central in the lead.

Woodward, who played a great of-fensive game throughout, accounted for the other four points, both from

THE second match of the three-game finals for the 1927 interplayground basketball championship will be played at 10:30 o'clock this morning by the Georgetown and Garfield Playground teams at Plaza Playground.

Both teams play a fast game and are so well matched in ability that the series is expected to run to three games. Georgetown won the first encounter last week, 26-19, breaking a 17-17 tle to score in the last four minutes. Garfield held the lead until the Georgetown girls started their raily.

Today's match should be an exciting one, and a record attendance of playground basketball fans is expected.

The meeting for basketball players, coaches and physical directors will be held at the K street Y. W. C. A. gymnasium instead of at the E street building, as previously announced.

Miss Grace E. Jones, national chairman of basketball of the American Physical Education Association, will explain new rules, give interpretations, give pointers on officiating and hold a general discussion on tourt game. The committee which Miss Jones heads writes the official rules book on women's basketball. Miss Hazel Sayre is local chairman and has arranged today's meeting.

BURCH STARS Pierce and Park View Schools In Finals of Playground Soccer

Recreation Circuit Resumes Play After 2-Week Lapse. 2

R BCREATION LEAGUE soccer teams will resume play today after a lapse of two weeks and indications are that favorable weather and keen competition will greet the fans this competition will greet the fans this afternoon.

The league-leading Park View Eleven will encounter Garfield on the Plaza Playground and, barring an upset, should maintain its hold on first place. The Park View lads are coached by Earl Clark, who is more adept at coaching soccer than baseball, his profession.

Mariboro will play Georgetown at Rosedale Playground and, judging from its performance on the occasion of its first visit to Washington, should conquer the Westenders. The Marylanders have played but one game here and this they won handlily from Rosedale.

Rosedale will play Bloomingdale at Plaza Playground and this is the one difficult match to select a probable winner. Bloomingdale suffered a 2-to-1 defeat at the hands ered a 2-to-1 defeat at the hands of Park View in its opening match, but did not show any signs of weakening until its coach and leader, John Murphy, received a painful injury.

Happy Hollow will play Plaza in the fourth game of the day and critics are picking Plaza to cop. The Union Station lads took a 4-to-0 game from Garneld in its initial contest and appear to be one of the best combinations in the circuit.

MORE CAPITAL PLANNED BY POTOMAC LAND BANK

200 Shares to Be Offered to Present Stockholders on January 1.

EXCHANGE TRADE BETTER

By F. W. PATTERSON.

offering of 200 shares of capital stock of the Potomac Joint Stock Land Bank Co. will be made to the present stockholders January 1, according to a decision of the board of directors yesterday. All previous increases in stock have been absorbed by the stockholders, and when this increase is paid in the capital will be $370,000 and reserve, surplus and undivided profits in excess of $125,000. The institution now has more than $6,250,000 in loans and has farm loans outstanding amounting to $6,000,- issue of $500,000 of 5 er cent tax-exempt bonds was approved by the directors subject to authorization of the Federal Farm Loan Board, and it is expected the offering will be made to the public on January 1.

A dividend at the rate of 7 per cent per annum was declared for the six onths' period after the legal amount of earnings were carried to the reserve account and a substantial amount to surplus. The dividend is payable Janu-ary 1 to stockholders of record Decem-ary 1 to stockholders of record December 20.

"Agricultural conditions in Maryland and Virginia are stable and farm loans are on the increase," said George A. Harris, president, in making his report. "The building of good roads and diversification of crops in Maryland and Virginia have put agriculture on asubstantial basis. All farm lands on which our bank has mortgages, sold in the usual way by the borrowers, sold for more than twice the amount of the appraisal value for loaning purposes."

Officers and directors of the company are: George A. Harris, president; John I. Cassidy, vice president; Vernon Gowin, secretary-treasurer; A. Mitchell Palmer, general counsel; Charles Edward Hilliard, Hagerstown, Md.; Arthur Peter, Carroll Pierce, Joseph A. Wilmer, John B. Cochran, N. T. Shumate, J. T. C. Directors of the Merchants Bank & Trust Co. yesterday declared the regular semiannual dividend of 3 per cent, payable January 1, to stockholders of record December 20.

Stock Trade Improves.

Trading in yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange was an improvement over that of the day before, not only in the volume of turnover but the price level for most of the issues in which transactions were recorded.

Lanston Monotype was not only the leader of the miscellaneous list but also set the pace for the market, and starting 1½ points under the close of Wednesday, with 75 shares changing hands in three lots at 105½, picked up to 106 on the following sale of 50 shares and gained a ½-point on the closing sale, to come within a ½-point of closing level of two days before. Peoples Drug Stores preferred added another point to its recent rise, with a single lot moving at 121, within 1 point of the high for the year.

Washington Railway & Electric preferred bettered par on opening sale, and on the following sales advanced to 100½, while the 6 per cent preferred sold at 112. Capital Traction failed for the first time this week to advance and sold at 110½, a fraction under the close of Thursday. Washington Railway & Electric common, out for the first time in some days, sold unchanged at 460.

Bond sales were more active than on the day before, with sales recorded in C. & P. Telephone 5s at 101; Washington Gas Light 6s, series "A," at 106½, and the "B's" at 106½; Wardman Park Hottel 5½s at 96, and Potoma Electric Power first 5s at 101½.

Convention Hall Listed.

Washington Convention Hall prefer-red, par 100, of which $202,000 is out-standing, admitted to the Washington Stock Exchange on Thursday, appeared on the listing yesterday for the first time, and while there were no trans-

Business during the week ended December 3, as measured by check payments, was smaller than in he preceding week, but greater than in the corresponding week of 1926, according to the weekly statement of the Department of Commerce, issued yesterday. Wholesale prices receded from the previous week and were lower also than in the corresponding week last year. Cotton prices showed no change from the previous week, but were substantially above the level a year ago. Prices for iron and steel, states the report, continued to weaken. Receipts of cotton into sight were larger than in the previous week, but substantially smaller than in the corresponding week of 1926. iness during the week ended De

Loans and discounts by Federal reserve member banks continued to expand, being greater also than in the corresponding period of a year ago. The Federal reserve ratio averaged lower than in the previous week, showing a decline also from the corresponding week of last year. Prices of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange week, being higher also than in the corresponding week being higher also than in the corresponding week a year earlier. Loans of Federal reserve banks in New York City to brokers and dealers, secured by stocks and bonds, were larger than in either the previous week and the corresponding week in 1926. Prisoner Admits

Dynamiting House

Clifton Forge, Va., Dec. 9.—Mack Scott, colored, was arrested here today, charged with setting off the dynamite which early Tuesday morning partially wrecked the residence of J. C. Carpenter, president of the First National Bank. The officers had learned through Deputy Sheriff Noffsinger, of Eagle Rock, that Scott had purchased tweive sticks of dynamit in that town the day before the explosion.

Beott confessed to the crime and said the reason for his act was that Mr. Carpenter would not permit him to visit his cook. Four other men are baing held under suspicion. Some officers are inclined to doubt Scott's story about his real reason for revenge. He has been taken to a distant jail for safe keeping.

in Equipment and Personnel Necessary to Flying.

President Coolidge yesterday pro-posed the holding of an international civil aviation conference and exhibi-tion in Washington next December in conjunction with the annual civil aero-nautical parley of the Department of Commerce

The President's letter, as read by McCracken, is as follows:
"Your annual meeting under the auspices of the Department of Commerce to discuss civil aeronautical problems should be most beneficial in promoting the best possible relations with the Government and among yourselves. Our people in common with the civilized nations, are greatly interested in the advancement of this nearest instrumentality of transportation.

Confident of Cooperation.

"Next December will witness the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first flight by man in a power-driven heavier-than-air machine. It was made by Mr. Orville Wright, one of our fellow citizens who is still living and actively interested in its further application to commercial purposes. I have had in mind that this important anniversary might be properly celebrated by holding here in Washington an international civil aviation conference and exhibition in conjunction with your annual meeting. Should this be found practicable, its success would in a large measure depend upon your cooperation, which I am confident can be relied upon."

P. Trubee Davison, the Assistant Secretary of War for Aeronautics, informed delegates to the conference of the plans of engineers at Wright Field who are working on plans for the perfection of an attimeter which is expected to show the aviator the height of his plane above ground, regardless of the height of that ground above sea level.

Davison declared the radio beacon

Davison declared the radio beacon, used with such good effect in the recent Hawalian flights, is one of aviation's greatest aids. The present problems of aviation, including especially those conditions pertaining to the weather forecasts, will be worked out shortly, provided those in the industry work together.

trial of Harry F. Sinciair and the other five respondents now on trial before Justice Siddons was furnished yesterday by Edward F. Kidwell, juror in the Fall-Sinciair conspiracy trial, whose discussion of the proceedings with outsiders formed one of the grounds for the mistrial in the later case.

Kidwell made what was described as a voluntary appearance at the courthouse yesterday and conferred for some time with Maj. Peyton Gordon, United States District Attorney, and Neil Burkinshaw, his assistant. During the course of the conference a stenographer was called in to take down a statement which Kidwell made.

Members of the District Attorney's office refused to discuss the Kidwell interview for publication but it was learned that he told of incidents which teld him to believe that he was within the him to believe that he was within the him to believe that he was Chauffeur Overcome by Motor Exhaust Being Kept Alive With Oxygen.

STUDENTS SUPPLY BLOOD

While the life of Rixey Bridges, 21 years old. 1223 Thirty-third street northwest, hangs in the balance, Georgetown University Hospital physicians are waging what they believe will be a successful struggle to revive the faint spark of life which remained when Bridges was overcome early yes terday by carbon monoxide gas from a motor exhaust. The accident occurred about 5:45 o'clock when Bridges, a chauffeur, was warming up truck otors at the garage of the Gulf Refining Co., in Rosslyn, Va.

Rushed to the hospital by police of the Seventh Precinct, Bridges was saved from what seemed certain death by the administration of oxygen by the Fire Department rescue squad. A slen-der thread of life was maintained by der thread of life was maintained by the frequent oxygen treatments throughout the day and the victim's poisoned blood supply was replenlished by transfusion from the veins of two junior medical students of the hospital. John Foley and Joseph Hayes.

Dr. Joseph Scully, who took charge of the case, is devoting his entire time to the grim battle in the emergency room of the hospital. A clinic was conducted among Georgetown medical students yesterday to determine which students are subjects for further transfusion operations which may be necessary While at first the patient showed no reaction to the oxygen, his condition last night showed a slight improvement, hospital authorities said.

POLICE SMASH DOORS:

Two Arrested in Downtown Building Booked Under Gambling Charges.

OTHERS POST $5 EACH

Swarming over roofs and battering eir way with sledge hammers through three heavily barred doors to rooms on the third floor of 730 Thirteenth street northwest, First Precinct police yesterday afternoon arrested 30 men and seized what they described as the most complete gaming equipment they have ever found.

When the police cordon closed about the building, Precinct Detective E. A. Mumper and Policems Ray Aggleson made their way into the alleged gaming rooms by a stealthy climb over rearcoofs. Sergt. O. J. Letterman led Precinct Detectives J. E. Kane and V. D. Hughes up the front stairway as splintered doors fell under the hammer blows.

A scene of wild disorder greeted them in the alleged gaming rooms, police said. Several of those arrested attempted to jump from windows and were restrained only after Letterman made an impromptu speech in which he declared the less confusion the cheaper all hands would "get off" at the station house.

Ernest Truesdell, 39 years old, of 4408 Georgia avenue northwest, and Gus Crutchbeck, 47, of 1218 I street northeast, alleged proprietors, were charged with setting up a gaming table in violation of section 865 of the District of Columbia code. Three patrol wagons were used to transport the prisoners to the station where 28 were charged with disorderly conduct. All were immediately released upon the payment of $5 for each by William P. Ryan, bondsman. Truesdell and Crutchbeck were released on bonds of $500 each.

Lindbergh Declares Reliability

Commerce.

The President's proposal, which suggested the holding of the conference in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first successful flight of a heavier-than-air machine, made by Orville Wright, was read to the more than 200 representatives of commercial aviation interests attending the concluding session of the fiveday aeronautical conference in the suditorium of the United States Chamber of Commerce by William P. MacCracken, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aviation, chairman of the conference.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who at-serce for Aviation, chairman of the conference, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who atended his second session of the conerence yesterday, made a short adiress, during which he urged officials of the Department of Commerce in tharge of aeronautics in the future to yeolve further regulations to insure greater safety in air transportation.

Safety Essentlal, Lindbergh Says.

"Gread and carrying canacity are of Safety Essential, Lindbergh Says.

"Speed and carrying capacity are of great importance in competing with other forms of transportation, but without safety and reliability aviation can never hope to reach its high and rightful position as a factor in world commerce," Lindbergh declared.

Lindbergh said commercial aviation needs the full confidence of the public before it can become general, and the only way it can attain this end is to insure the user of airplanes of its reliability, both as to equipment and personnel.
